

Workshops & webinars

Learn online or face-to-face

Our workshops and webinars will help you and your school build evaluative capability with the assessment tools and surveys that NZCER has to offer.

Unlock the potential to:

- understand how your data can be used diagnostically to support teaching and learning.
- interpret reports and discuss next teaching and learning steps.
- use current and longitudinal data to investigate the health of both teaching and learning in your chosen subject.
- consider the process of teaching and learning from the learners' point of view.
- inform both progress and achievement, and teachers' professional learning needs by using your data effectively within your school or across the Kāhui Ako.

“ This webinar has totally opened my eyes to how effectively data can be used to teach our students... I feel as though a light bulb has just gone on for how I can become even more effective as a teacher.

“ We have used PAT before but never to the report stage. We have been hung up on stanines and I believe now that there is much more we could utilize.

“ I found the webinar very helpful, it was a lot of information but I have a better understanding of the website and how we can use it to analyse data from our assessment.
