

CONTENTS

Foreword	vii
CHAPTER 1 Border crossing and borderlands: The transition to school	1
Transition to school in New Zealand	2
An ecological approach to thinking about transitions	5
How this book took shape	6
How the book is organised	7
CHAPTER 2 Introducing the Mangere Bridge Project	9
The communities	9
The schools	11
The transition-to-school project	12
The research project	14
CHAPTER 3 Portfolios as tools for enhancing learning across the borders	17
Portfolios at Mangere Bridge Kindergarten	18
Transitioning with portfolios	21
Portfolios go to school	22
Concluding comments	27
CHAPTER 4 Mutually interesting projects	29
A transition to school photo display board at the kindergarten	30
The 'Welcome to School' DVD project	31
Early childhood and primary links group	34
Concluding comments	35

CROSSING the BORDER

CHAPTER 5 Mutually familiar language, routines and practices	37
School visits.....	38
Playground book.....	41
Information pamphlets and parent packs	41
The school phonics DVD	43
Waste free/zero rubbish	45
Concluding comments	46
CHAPTER 6 The buddies project	47
Tuakana/teina relationships.....	49
The buddies project begins	50
An ongoing project	52
Concluding comments	55
CHAPTER 7 Theory building	57
Retrospective data analysis and theorising	59
Reciprocal relationships across sectors	63
Concluding comments	65
CHAPTER 8 Multi-literacies that support the crossing of borders	67
Multi-literacies	67
Moviemaking.....	68
Portfolios as multi-faceted documentation of learning	73
Concluding comments	73
CHAPTER 9 Building bridges: The alignment between an early childhood and a school curriculum	75
A child's portfolio	77
Key competency one: thinking (exploration).....	79
Key competency two: using language, symbols and texts (communication)	80
Key competency three: managing self (well-being)	82
Key competency four: relating to others (contribution).....	84
Key competency five: participating and contributing	86
Concluding comments	87
CHAPTER 10 Conclusion	89
Good will and professional relationships between teachers in action.....	90
Fostering belonging and engagement in the new place	91
Recognising the continuity of learning journeys	91
References	93